

Vol. 30—No. 5 NEWS OF THE MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

Lt. Col. Wharton B. Carroll, Gypsy La., Wynnewood, after two years overseas duty, is awaiting transportation home.

G. M. 3/C Albert Becker, 212 Forest Ave., home from V-12, Princeton.

Capt. Harold B. Lane, 747 Bracburn La., Penn Valley, has been honorably discharged from the Army.

Capt. Emil Roesler, 340 Bomber Group, of 504 Essex Ave., returned duty in Italy after one year overseas duty in Italy. Capt. Roesler, Wynnewood Rd., Merion, was of the same squadron. Maj. Rittenhouse has been reported missing since Mar. 7. Capt. Roesler saw Maj. Rittenhouse's ship damaged and saw the men bail out over enemy territory. Since then there has been no word from the crew, but there is more than a 50-50 chance that they may be prisoners of war.

Capt. Roesler received the Presidential Unit Citation, the DFC, and the Air Medal with seven oak leaf clusters.

1st Lieutenant William S. O'Sullivan, son of Commander and Mrs. W. R. O'Sullivan, of 85 Windsor Ave., Narberth, was one of eight men rescued by a Navy PBV crew when his B-29 was forced down in the Bay of Bengal, recently. The men were picked up after 24 hours in the water.

Ford F. Monroe, AAM 1/c, of 322 Woodbine Ave., Narberth, is now stationed at San Diego, Cal., as an instructor of hydraulics. In the service for six years, Monroe served two years in San Juan.

Paul S. Mason, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Mason, of 115 Essex Ave., Narberth, was recently promoted to sergeant. He is an aerial runner on a B-24 Liberator bomber with the 15th AAF.

Arriving overseas December 1, he has flown more than 15 combat missions against Germany.

Growth of Narberth Depicted in Pageant Presented by School Pupils and Staff

An historical pageant, depicting the growth of Narberth Borough through the presentation of scenes largely taken from its history, was presented at the Narberth Public School, on April 19, 20, and 21.

The pageant, entitled, "A Community Rises," commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Borough was written and presented by the teachers and pupils of the school. The show brought to life authentic incidents taken from actual historical facts.

W. J. Drennen, principal of the school, directed the affair.

Following are the episodes as they were presented in the pageant:

Landing of the Welsh Quakers
Having obtained 5,000 acres of land in America from William Penn through John ap Thomas and Edward ap Jones, a party of forty Welsh Quakers landed at Upland, August 14, 1682. Finding their purchase already settled, they decided to accept the offer of the West of the Schuylkill. So settled the Welsh in the vicinity of Narberth.

Revolutionary Days at Steeper's Tavern

The land upon which Steeper's Tavern, now the General Wayne Inn, was built, was first owned by Edward Jones. It stood along the first thoroughfare in this section, Old Lancaster Road, now Montgomery Pike. Through Revolutionary War days it stood as a landmark, a stopping place for rich and poor alike.

General Wayne Inn

After the Revolutionary War, Steeper's Tavern became known as the General Wayne Inn. The development of land, the building of the turnpike and the "new" Philadelphia and Columbia Railroad running close by, made the Inn a common meeting place where the future of the community was anticipated or despaired of. For a long time it was the site of the local post office, situated midway between Merionville and Libertyville, now the portion of Narberth bordering Montgomery Avenue nearest Wynnewood.

Husking Bee at the Edward Price Homestead

Levering's May 18, 1851, dated 1851) shows the land North of Haverford and Merion Roads owned by Ann Price Jackson and Edward R. Price. The original Price (Rees) homestead was in Lower Merion Township, at the North end of Brookhurst Ave. It was used by Lord Cornwallis as his headquarters while in this vicinity. Another Price homestead, that of Edward Price, still stands diagonally across from Merion Meeting, now known as the John A. Mower property. It is from this estate and that originally owned by Ann Price Jackson, later by the Fureys, that the North side of Narberth was developed.

Platform Gossip at Elm Station

Libertyville was the first railroad station in this vicinity, on the old Philadelphia and Columbia Railroad, which ran close by the school property. In 1850 the Pennsylvania Railroad bought this 22-mile line and the new station was given the name of Elm by William Thomas who had given the ground on which the station was built. The village South of station had been called Elm, named for the Thomas home in Wales. Later the name was changed to Narberth, presumably by George B. Roberts, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who renamed many of the stations for towns in Wales from which the early settlers had come.

Granting the Charter

The Narberth Bank Association, organized October 9, 1889, appointed a committee on June 13, 1893, to investigate the advisability of obtaining a borough charter. A properly signed petition was approved by the Grand Jury set at aside by Judge Aaron S. Swartz, on the basis of objections presented by lay and business groups. In May 1894 a new petition coinciding with the Judge's decision, was presented, and was reported favorably by the Grand Jury on June 7, 1894. On January 21, 1895, the petition was confirmed by Judge Swartz and Narberth was incorporated as a borough.

Early Days in Narberth

Many of the privileges we enjoy today in Narberth had their beginnings in the ray nineties. The public school was opened by Lower Merion Township in January 1892, accommodating pupils who had formerly attended Wynnewood School and the Lower Merion Academy. The first Narberth School year began September 2, 1895, with 44 pupils. Electricity was secured in 1893. The Narberth Fire Company was organized in 1897. The religious life of the borough grew apace with the founding of churches and later the Y. M. C. A. The Board of Health was organized in 1895. Gas lines were laid in 1896.

Welcome Home

In the decade following 1910, Narberth grew in population from 1,700 to 3,700. The Narberth Civic Association became an active force in the borough, its two outstanding accomplishments being the founding of "Our Town" newspaper, first published October 15, 1914, and the development of Narbrook Park, begun in 1915. The first Boy Scout Troop was started in the same year. World War I found the borough engaged in many emergency activities while homes suffered the anxiety attending the absence of sons in service. Nine Narberth men made the supreme sacrifice. In 1919, the Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion was formed and today still serves in the interests of veterans of World War I and II.

Progress in Narberth

The closing of the Y. M. C. A. in 1920 left Narberth without a recreation center. This need was met by the acquisition of a playground in 1922, upon which was built, in 1926, the Community Building, around which much of the community life centers. Into it was moved the Community Library, May 1, 1926. The public school population had outgrown the local school facilities and in September 1923 the senior high school students were transferred to Lower Merion High. In this era we secured police protection (1922), the milk and building codes were enacted (1922 and 1923, respectively) and three voting precincts were established (1924).

Youth Looks Forward

In recent years the organizations and institutions of the borough have continued to render service and keep alive a community spirit unsurpassed anywhere. We continue to train youth for citizenship, to carry forward the work in their home town, their State and Nation.

Services Held For Clement J. McCrea

Funeral services were held for Clement J. McCrea, 302 Woodside Ave., Narberth, from Oliver Bair's at 8:30 A. M. Wednesday morning, followed by Solemn Requiem Mass at St. Margaret's Church. Interment was private.

Mr. McCrea, associated with the Pennsylvania Railroad for many years, and a resident of Narberth for more than 25 years, died at Bryn Mawr Hospital last Friday night.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret McCrea, a daughter, Betty, a student at Lower Merion High School, and two sons, Clement J. McCrea, Jr., and John Richard McCrea, who is in the Netherlands East Indies.

Bell Raps GOP Leadership Again

Says Pew-Grundy-Taylor Fail to Recognize Ills of Party

Better principles, leadership and candidates were advocated for the ill of the Republican Party by Lt. Gov. John C. Bell, Jr., Wynnewood, in another attack on the Pew-Grundy-Taylor leadership in the Bell Raps GOP Leadership Again.

Speaking before the Northampton Council of Republican Women Bell criticized Joseph N. Pew, Jr., Ardmore, multi-millionaire party benefactor of Ardmore and his political friends Senator M. Harvey Taylor, Dauphin County boss, and Joseph Grundy, Bucks County leader, of failing to take heed from the defeat the party suffered in November.

"If the same thing had happened to a business man, he would have worked night and day to analyze the reasons for the disaster and to correct the mistakes which had been made and to plan for a successful future. With rare exceptions, the leaders of the Republican party have failed to realize the weaknesses and mistakes of our party and consequently they have done nothing toward correcting these faults or adopting a more constructive program for the future."

Edward Martin from his criticism. Outlining a 10-point program for his party, Bell advocated reorganization of the State committee. He called for a full-time paid State chairman, selected by county chairmen.

The divided State county and city jobs be given returning war veterans and that the party give more recognition to youth generally.

The Lieutenant Governor also urged that the party pay more attention to independents. He said they could be attracted to the GOP by better principles, leadership and candidates.

Warns Next of Kin On Memorial Fraud

Says Families Of War Heroes Are Being Mulcted

Next of kin of Army casualties should guard against the possibility of being victimized by certain individuals, groups and organizations who are conducting promotional schemes in which published Army casualty lists provide the basis of fraudulent exploitation, Norman L. Johnson, director of Montgomery County Department of War Veterans' Affairs, cautioned today.

Information indicating that such fraudulent schemes, designed to profit the families of American war heroes, are now being conducted has recently come to the attention of John through the War Department.

These schemes take on varying forms, but the common one is to write the next of kin, as appearing in the newspaper casualty lists, seeking further information on the soldier listed as a casualty.

The next of kin is advised that the deceased soldier is to be given a particular and special niche in a so-called "hall of fame" or "hero's memorial book" or photographic layout.

Deposits in advance or other cash remittance requirements are set forth and as soon as the remittance is received from the next of kin the transaction is closed and another American fighting man's family has been victimized by the newest and most despicable form of swindler.

The United States Post Office Department has been taking vigorous action against all such cases as fast as they are uncovered. Postal fraud orders, denying the use of the U. S. mails to these casualty list swindlers, are issued, and criminal prosecution follows in those cases where the facts warrant such action.

Blood Donor Unit Here May 17, 18, 19

The Mobile Unit of the Blood Donor Service will be at Red Cross headquarters in Ardmore on May 17, 18, and 19. The hours of appointment on Thursday and Friday are from 12:45 through 5:15, on Saturday the hours change to 10:15 through 3:15. Appointments may be made for these hours in Ardmore, or for any other convenient time at the permanent Philadelphia Blood Donor Center, by calling Ardmore 3100.

Simon Crunch Opines: "Go Ring the Bells and Fire the Guns for Uncle Sam Has Licked the Huns"

This cry is heard the daily from the desks to the village store. All's over but the final shout, the lines of march are all laid out, and workers feel they can let down "the job is done."

G. O. P. WOMEN HEAR TALK ON BLUE CROSS EXTENSION AS BILL IS KILLED IN SENATE

Dr. Eugene P. Pendergrass, speaking at the annual meeting of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women Tuesday, urged the support of legislation authorizing the Blue Cross to offer medical as well as hospital benefits.

Dr. Pendergrass, professor of radiology at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine and former president of the Philadelphia County Medical Society, told the 65 members attending Harrisburg Dispatch.

Death of the Farrell bill on the Blue Cross medical plan was accomplished by adoption of a committee resolution to postpone action on them. For all legislative intent and purposes, this kills the measure.

Said Sen. Louis H. Farwell (R., Pa.), the committee's sponsor: "We were unable to get them out today, but we feel we have done it. It is a matter of time before the session ends."

However, it was apparent Farwell was whistling in the dark from the comment by Sen. Jacob K. Squire (D., Pa.), chairman of the committee: "The chances are nothing more will be done this session."

The luncheon meeting at Haverford Country Hotel that there is a great public need for an effective medical insurance plan. He outlined the bills sponsored by State Senator Louis H. Farwell (R., Pa.) which would permit the Blue Cross expansion.

"I believe this program can be a magnificent contribution to medical service and hospital care," he declared. Although some doctors believe this is an entirely new wedge for socialized medicine, in his opinion these bills fully protect the profession since all problems of medical policy will be left to the medical members of the board of directors.

At the election of officers for two year terms, Mrs. John F. Huber, Jr., Haverford, was elected honorary president and Mrs. Earle Heppner, Merion, president. Mrs. Huber, who has been president of the council since 1932, was presented with a bracelet.

On the three-hour reminder of the council's appreciation of her leadership" by Mrs. Harrie Reed on behalf of the council members and the Junior Republicans.

Thanking the officers and chairmen for their work, she said that of the three councils in the county, the Lower Merion-Narberth one is unique for it is made up of independent thinking women and "it is with a great deal of gratitude that I retire as your president for this council is my training ground as a went into the State and now the National organization."

Mrs. Earle Heppner, newly elected president, paid a tribute to the program, led by Mrs. Huber, and asked for the members' continued support to enable the council to remain the "spotlight council in Pennsylvania."

Other officers elected to serve for the ensuing two years were: Mrs. Carl H. Zipp, Mrs. Herman L. Schwartz, Mrs. Samuel L. Veitch, Mrs. Edgar H. Cockrell, Mrs. Theodore A. Phillips, Mrs. James A. Jenks, Jr., president; Mrs. Joseph F. Scull, recording secretary; Mrs. Ray Scott Tammehill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Howard S. Delany, treasurer.

Narberth Lad Finds Bodies of Suicides

Seaman Bailey Had Same Experience As a Boy Scout

Last Friday morning, S. 1/C Charles A. Bailey of 110 Merion Ave., Narberth, and S. 1/C Teddy J. Harwick of Olympia, Washington, who he had brought home on his 48 hour liberty, decided to go fishing down in Mill Creek.

When they reached the estate of Stacey B. Lloyd, about 11 A. M., they saw a parked car in a field, the car occupied by two women, apparently asleep. Seaman Bailey opened the car door, shook one of the women. He then saw the hose attached to the exhaust of the automobile and put through the car window. He went to the main house on the estate and called the Lower Merion Police.

Some six or seven years ago when he was a Boy Scout, Seaman Bailey, on another fishing trip found the body of a man along Mill Creek.

The two women who died in a suicide pact were identified as Mrs. Paula Kellogg, 26, a divorcee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gifford Kellogg of 80 Locust Rd., Winnetka, Ill., and Mrs. Eloise Baker, 27, a divorcee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baker, 111 N. 49th St., Philadelphia.

They had both been patients at the institute for Mental Hygiene, 111 N. 49th St., Philadelphia.

Alec Templeton to Play at Dell Concert

Alec Templeton, popular pianist-entertainer of radio and concert stage, has been added to the roster of soloists for the 1945 season at Robin Hood Dell, a return engagement for which he has given previous seasons has attracted record audiences to the sylvan amphitheatre in Fairmount Park.

The program will be typical of the entertaining fare associated with the name of Alec Templeton, a well-known Concerto and music for solo piano to exhibit his skill as a keyboardist and a large number of the characterizations and humorous sketches for which he is particularly noted and admired.

For his Dell date, Templeton promises a group of new "acts" together with some old favorites to be requested by the audience.

He is sure to give a new twist to the course of the several "Pop" concerts that are to be featured among the 28 on the seven weeks calendar from June 18 to August 3. Also on the "Pop" list are Dinah Shore and Jeanette MacDonald.

Lady Luck and Kelly Pool Pouch Decides Whose Name Will Be First on Ballot

Ever wonder why one candidate gets the top position on the ballot at a Primary or General Election when there are two or more running for the same office? Well, it's not a matter of "knowing the name" or "being a better person" but a matter of "knowing the alphabet."

It's simply Lady Luck herself batting away at the spitballs hurled by old man "law of averages."

In more dignified language, here is what happens when two or more candidates file petitions for the same office on the Republican or Democratic ticket. A day is set by the County Board of Elections, soon after the final day for withdrawal of petitions has passed. All candidates where there is a contest are notified of this day and invited to appear personally to draw for their own number. If they wish, they do not appear at the time of the drawing, which is usually held in the board room of the county commissioners' office, someone else is asked to draw for the absent candidate.

The chief clerk of the Board of Elections is in charge of the drawing. From his lists of candidates, he picks the names for a ticket and office. If they are present, they are handed a black pellet bearing a number which the chief clerk shakes out of a leather pouch-like container. A device very similar to that used in the game of Kelly Pool. The candidates, or

Seventh War Loan Real Challenge Says Congressman

Congressman Samuel K. McConnell, Jr., writing from Washington, sets the keynote in a letter of congratulation to Thomas Barnes, II, chairman of the Main Line Bond Drive Committee.

"This nation," writes Congressman McConnell, "is on the eve of another War Bond Drive. A real challenge is presented to the American people this time. The quota for individual subscriptions has been set at a higher figure than for any previous drive. Hard sustained effort and real sacrifice will be required in order to reach the goal."

"America has always rejoiced at the thought of a difficult task. The people of this country have responded to the call of duty whenever they have been informed clearly of the need. It has been aptly stated that 'much good work is spoiled by the lack of a little more.' On the threshold of a great victory, it is unthinkable that there will be any sign of faltering now."

Rod and Gun Club Plans June Outing

The Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club, at its monthly meeting last Wednesday night, chose Sunday afternoon, June 10 for its annual Spring picnic and outing at the Nash Farm on League Rd., just outside of Narberth.

A full outing program of casting, shooting and other events is planned and chairmen of the Club's committees will meet with the group at the Nash Farm at 10 o'clock on an early date to complete the schedule.

'Dam Bill' Now in House Committee, Sportsmen Hear

The Club's delegates to the Montgomery County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs reported that the so-called "dam bill" sponsored by the sportsmen's organizations of Montgomery County, including the Lower Merion group, had been introduced by Charles H. Brunner, Jr., of Norristown and was under consideration in the House Committee on Counties at Harrisburg. Lambert Cadwalader, of Villanova, is chairman of this committee.

The bill would permit counties that wish to do so to rebuild, repair and maintain dams within their respective county borders. At the quarterly meeting of the County Federation held in Norristown two days before the Lower Merion meeting, it was pointed out that in Montgomery County alone there are more than 50 old dams, many of which are in need of repair. The County had legal authority to repair them. At the same meeting of the County Federation delegates from 11 sportsmen's organizations, including the Lower Merion group, were urged to request passage of this bill.

The tests were administered by Professor William L. Einolf, of the University of Pennsylvania. Guests observing the administration of the tests were: Mr. Brown, County chairman of the education committee of the Philadelphia Chapter of N. O. M. A., and C. P. Eckels, formerly of the University of Pittsburgh.

Robinson Named Basketball Coach

Three Men to Fill Shoes Formerly Worn By Anderson

Oliver E. Robinson has been named basketball coach at Lower Merion High School to succeed former coach Bill Anderson, who died last week to become athletic director at Lafayette College.

The announcement of Robinson's selection by F. A. Dubois, superintendent of schools, came as a surprise because he wasn't active in interscholastic basketball this past season, although his name was mentioned last week among those eligible in the system.

Robinson is a quiet, likeable young man of 39 who has been a member of the Lower Merion High faculty since 1939. He was an outstanding all-around athlete at Wheaton College where he played varsity football, basketball and baseball, and before coming to L. M. was a successful coach at Chester, Berwyn and Morrisstown, N. J. Two years ago he coached the basketball team at Haverford School while a member of the local faculty.

He was an outstanding player in independent basketball ranks and played for the Philadelphia Eagles and he played with Brookline in the Main Line League during the 1936-37 season.

He has had little opportunity to become known to the Lower Merion sports public because he has been a layoff coach in baseball, an assistant in soccer and football and he helped out in the intramural basketball program.

Robinson was appointed head of Lower Merion's Summer recreation program. Superintendent Dubois confirmed the report that no person would be designated as athletic director until the first of September will be assumed by the principal and by the vice-principal, George Gilbert and Vincent Pearce.

A new teacher will be selected to teach physical education in the high school, but will not be designated as head of the physical training department. This teacher has not yet been selected.

In other words, at least three persons will be doing the work handled previously by Anderson. He leaves huge shoes, indeed.

Board of Health

The Lower Merion Township Board of Health reported six new cases of chicken pox, one new case of German measles, one new case of measles, 13 new cases of mumps, and three new cases of scarlet fever for the week ending April 20.

Says Heyburn Will Let Wage Tax Bill Die In Committee

County League, Backed by 24,000 Signatures, Telegraphs State Senator For Action; 'We Do Not Intend to Forget', They Warn; Edmonds Also On Finance Committee

Charges that State Senator Weldon B. Heyburn of Delaware County was aligning himself with Philadelphia politicians to impose the "iniquitous wage tax" on suburban residents were made this week by the Wage Protest League of Delaware County.

Senator Heyburn save his pledge to the League and to Labor in Delaware County that he would put his legislative shoulder behind the bill introduced in the State Legislature by Benjamin F. James, 3rd, Villanova, which would abolish the tax for non-residents of Philadelphia.

Because the bill has remained in the finance committee of the State Senate, where Heyburn is majority leader, officers of the Tax league are suspicious that the Delaware County Senator is up to the old "pickling trick" of letting the measure die in committee. They charge that in 1939, 1941 and 1943 Senator Heyburn had a hand in killing bills that would have abolished the wage tax.

State Senator Franklin Spencer Edmonds of Montgomery County and Senator George B. Scarlett of Chester County are members of the finance committee, along with Heyburn, in which the bill is being held.

"We do not intend to forget," declared Eugene J. Keenan, chairman of the legislative committee of the Wage Protest League that circulated petitions and obtained 24,000 signatures against the tax.

The Wage Protest League has threatened political action against Senator Heyburn who has placed a factional ticket in the field against the Delaware County Republican candidate for Governor, Wallace Chadwick, Rose Valley candidate for Orphans Court Joseph N. Pew, multi-millionaire and Haverford Township benefactor, who told an official of the Tax League several weeks ago that he didn't mind paying his wage tax. He then referred the League official to Senator Heyburn. Pew lives in Ardmore.

On April 18 Keenan sent the following telegram to Senator Heyburn:

"Your failure to get the James Anti-Wage Tax Bill to the floor of the Senate, as promised, is indefensible. For six years you have helped Philadelphia to impose the iniquitous wage tax on the working people of our county. We shall notify the people that while you were elected from Delaware County you have consistently looked after the interests of Philadelphia to the detriment of your own constituents."

For the fourth session of the Legislature starting with the Brethrick Bills in 1939, 1941, and 1943, and ending with the Jafes Bill in 1945, you have failed to lift a finger to end the tax on Delaware County wage earners, and with the aid of the Martin Administration forces with which you are aligned, our people are again paying. We do not intend to forget."

The department of business education of Lower Merion High School, A. S. Benner, director, played host to 75 students from eight suburban high schools April 25. The national clerical ability tests, sponsored jointly by the National Council of Business Education and the National Office Management Association, are given throughout the nation. Those students in the business education department of the various schools who successfully pass the tests in the different business subjects, receive a certificate of proficiency. In normal time this certificate serves as an entree to a good office position.

The tests were administered by Professor William L. Einolf, of the University of Pennsylvania. Guests observing the administration of the tests were: Mr. Brown, County chairman of the education committee of the Philadelphia Chapter of N. O. M. A., and C. P. Eckels, formerly of the University of Pittsburgh.

The suburban schools represented were Abington, Ambler, Collingsdale, Doylstown, Haverford, Lansdowne, Norristown and Upper Merion.

The next general meeting of the Narberth Junior Woman's Club, will be held May 3, in the Community Building. Club 16 will have charge of entertainment and refreshments.

Mrs. Martha L. Levering, of the Senior Woman's Club of Lansdowne, will provide the entertainment. The committee in charge is Mrs. Robert Sigel, chairman, Mrs. Samuel Krauss, Mrs. Harry Davis and Mrs. Frank Williams.

The election of officers for treasurer, second vice-president, director, and recording secretary will be held.

A Board meeting was held at the home of the club president, Mrs. Frederick M. Robb, last Wednesday evening.

Club 16 will meet at the home of Mrs. Sterling M. Chain, 94 Wynnedale Rd., Narberth, Friday evening, Mrs. George Stulting will be her assistant. The Book Club will also meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Purcell, 506 Rock Avon Rd., Narberth.

Mrs. Edward Nunn and Mrs. Hjalmar Breit will be hostesses.

Dobelbower-Carey Engagement Listed

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newton Dobelbower, of Merion Place, Merion, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Claire Lydia Dobelbower, to Pharmacist's Mate 3/c Norval Emmett Carey, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Carey, of Overton, Neb.

The wedding will take place early in June. The couple expect to reside in Virginia Beach, Va., after the ceremony.

Household Tips
Grease the spout of the pitcher when you use it for muffin or waffle batter. It will make pouring smoother.

Pats keep best if stored in a well covered container away from strong flavored foods.

Halves of grapefruit, lightly sweetened with maple sirup or honey, are delicious when broiled.

Store sweet potatoes flat in a well ventilated basket or box kept in a cool, dark, dry place.

Never use a sharp instrument in removing ice trays; it may injure the refrigerator coil or tray.

Try folding the top crust of a fruit pie over the lower crust before crimping to keep the juices in.

Church Volunteers Plan Spring Flower-Bulb Show

A meeting of the volunteers of the Main Line Federation of Churches was held Wednesday afternoon, April 11, at the home of Mrs. J. Howard Cloud, 11 W. Montgomery Ave., Ardmore. Mrs. John M. Bristol, of Bryn Mawr, presided.

The resignation of Miss Elizabeth Bhoro, as chairman of the committee in charge of the volunteers who act as receptionists in the office of the Federation, was accepted with regret. Mrs. Ethel Hastings, of Bryn Mawr, is taking her place.

Mrs. J. Emmott Cladwee and Miss Evelina C. Walbaum, as co-chairmen of the Little Garden Day sale, reported on plans for the sale, which is to be held May 15, from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M. on the grounds of the Memorial Building, Lancaster Ave., and Bryn Mawr Ave., Bryn Mawr. Tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Cloud and Mrs. Henry Longmaid.

KNOW YOUR STATE

The ratification by the General Assembly of the Ohio River Valley Sanitation Compact marks an important forward step in the control of stream pollution by state authority.

This Compact represents the culmination of an effort extending over twenty years, beginning with a meeting in Pittsburgh in 1924 to obtain an agreement among all states in the Ohio River Basin to unite in a program of stream pollution control. Authority was obtained from Congress in 1936 to form the Compact which will become effective for all states in the Ohio Valley upon its ratification by the Legislature of Virginia.

The Ohio River Sanitation Compact provides a basis for interstate cooperation in the elimination of stream pollution through the development of practical and uniform standards. Administration of pollution abatement measures will be through existing state agencies thus avoiding duplication

Garden Club Will Hold Flower Show

Lower Merion Runners Eye Medley And Mile Titles At Penn Relays

Sports Scene

By L. M. FORD

Just as was forecast here last week, there was little the Main Line Baseball League could do about Eddie Hare's decision to play his home games at Veterans Park, the same site Manoa A. A. has used for a home base for the past two years. Eddie was adamant. The league either had to take him on his terms or operate with only five clubs. So they took him.

But had another club been on the waiting list, Hare would have found himself out in the cold because the managers were unanimous in the belief that two teams operating from the same field would not help the league. When the league put a ban on traveling teams last year it was with the idea that each club could develop a following in its particular community.

It is now feared that Brookline will merely attract a few percentage of Manoa fans at its home games and will have little, if any, following for away games.

Should this turn out to be the case, Hare had better take the hint and find a separate base for his operations because it is a good bet the league won't condone two teams using the same home field the moment there are other teams available who have fields of their own. However, it would be an entirely different story should Brookline develop a strong following of its own by playing at Veterans Park. This is definitely possible in our opinion, but only time will tell.

Manoa was in a ticklish spot in this field controversy as members of its club put in a lot of hard work in helping to make Veterans Park playable two years ago and it was their suggestions that prompted the township to turn the field into a decent ball park. It isn't hard to understand their misgivings now that they see another league team moving on to the field, especially when that particular team and its backers showed no interest in playing at Veterans Park until Manoa operated there.

Yet Manoa feared a league ruling against Brookline play might invoke political fireworks that also would cost it the use of the field. That's why Manoa took no part in the decisions at Monday's league session.

Steve Juenger, Haverford High basketball coach, led the American Pro Basketball League in scoring with a high average of 10.2 points per game, according to the official figures just released by League President John J. O'Brien, of New York. Steve tallied 92 field goals and 89 foul tosses for 273 points while playing 25 games for Washington-Paterson. Juenger also led the league in the same department while playing with Harrisburg in 1943.

Certain quarters are hinting rather pointedly that conditions at Lower Merion High were responsible for Bill Anderson taking the job at Lafayette College rather than the advancement and future offered by the latter. When you consider that Andy's new job amounts to the same held by Dr. Leroy Mercer at Penn, don't you think he would have been a nitwit not to have taken it?

Talk of what should have been done is so pointless, however, anything could have been done to keep Andy at L. M. After all, a high school does have limitations, you know, even L. M.

Six Teams Survive 'Big Wind' So Main Line Baseball League Will Open on Schedule May 13

If the final meeting to complete plans for the Main Line Baseball League can be taken as a criterion, the 41st campaign, which opens May 13, won't be lacking in keen rivalry nor excitement.

It took the managers four and one-half hours of debate and side-bar conferences to complete the pre-season business at Narberth Monday night and when it was finished hardly anyone was satisfied.

Narberth left the confab convinced everyone was again 'em innumerable as all but one of its proposals had been voted down. Manoa grumbled that it got the "burnt end of the stick." Sad-eyed Eddie Hare, of Brookline, complained "they made me feel like a robber." Ardmore was still not under the collar at Narberth's uncompromising demand for a home game. Jay 4, new member Llanerch, which had been both pro and con on the major issue, was a bit confused by it all, while Al Truesdell, of far removed Collegeville, just shook his head with wonder and disbelief.

But all parties were agreed that the league would open as planned May 13 with the following first day schedule:

At Ardmore at Llanerch; Collegeville at Narberth; Brookline at Manoa.

It was also agreed but quite reluctantly, that Brookline could play its home games at Veterans Park, Manoa at Veterans Park, Brookline, on the dates Manoa was scheduled away from home. It was decided unanimously to have paid official scorekeepers appointed for each game.

Maroon Quartet Sets New Record In Bridgeton Meet

West Catholic High And Chester Bow In Dual Meets

Four fleet-footed runners from Lower Merion High School most likely will be the hope of the entire Philadelphia district for an American championship in the medley relay event at the Penn Relay carnival this week.

The pupils of Coach John Marzucco set a new record in winning the medley event at Bridgeton, N. J., last Saturday and have high hopes of being the first suburban school ever to win a national event at Franklin Field. The Maroon will be up against a large field with strong competition expected from New York schools, but the fact that L. M. has drawn fourth position is considered a decided break.

Lower Merion's team will be comprised of George Glenner, Ralph Brenner, Lou Turner and Henry Uhle, the same combination which led North Catholic, Central High and Camden High to the tape at Bridgeton last week in the new meet record time of 8 minutes, 24.1 seconds.

It is believed the Maroon will be able to clip considerably off this time on the faster Penn track.

Lower Merion is also conceding a good chance of dethroning Upper Darby as the mile relay champion in the Suburban Conference as it finished fourth, but ahead of all suburban rivals at Bridgeton. North Catholic won this event with Trenton Central second and Central third.

Lower Merion and Upper Darby finished third and fourth, respectively, in the two-mile dash at Ardmore Tuesday. The picture is deceiving, indicating that Atkinson finished second, but he didn't. Dave Link of Lower Merion (not in the photo), squeezed into second place while Atkinson was third.

Norristown Next For Lower Merion

Maroon Nine Upsets Radnor But Loses At Cheltenham

Having broken even in its two league starts to date, Lower Merion High School will endeavor to force its way into a contending position in the Suburban One Baseball League next week.

The Maroon battles Norristown, beaten only by Haverford, at Pennypacker Field on Monday and invades Upper Darby, which has yet to win in the league, on Thursday.

Lower Merion's first victory in the league was quite refreshing as it was a 7-2 effort at the expense of arch-rival Radnor High last Thursday at Ardmore.

However, the Maroon was helpless against the brilliant pitching of Cheltenham's George Anderman Monday, getting only one hit as it dropped a 2-1 decision to the unbeaten Panthers. Outfielder Townsend got the only bingle.

It was Anderman's second one-hitter. L. M.'s lone run was the result of a walk, two infield errors and an error. Jim West, L. M. hurler, allowed only six hits, pitched shutout ball after the third.

On Tuesday Episcopal Academy avenged an early season setback when it defeated the Maroon, 7-3, at City Line and Berwick Rd.

Sylvester Steals Show In Track

Haverford High School was outclassed in its first dual track test, losing to Upper Darby, 82 3/4 to 34 1/4, on the latter's field but had the consolation of producing the meet's outstanding athlete.

Jack Sylvester was the Haverford hero. He won the broad jump and high jump and wound up high scorer by also placing second in the 100-yard dash and third in the 220-yard high hurdles.

Sylvester cleared the high jump bar at 6 feet and broad jumped 19 feet, 3 1/2 inches.

Only other Haverford entry to win an event was sprinter Fuller, who finished first in the century in 10.8.
